Message from the CEO of Oolu Solar

I am delighted to present you with an exciting opportunity to invest in the development of rural West Africa.

In 2012 my co-founder Nilmi Senaratna moved to the rural community of Wack N’Gouna, Senegal, to work for a clean cookstove and agriculture non-profit. While working with 5 villages to develop and teach more efficient methods of farming, storage, and cooking, she tutored children in English. Without electricity, we saw that the children would study by candlelight or with light from cell phones. She and her friends in the village would discuss this problem at length, and it was there that she decided to work on the issue of energy access.

In 2014, Nilmi left her post at the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) and asked me to join her in pursuing this energy access project full time. So, we moved back to Wack N’Gouna. We found that the biggest issue slowing the adoption of solar products for lighting and phone charging was the lack of trust that the villagers, potential customers for such products, had in the products available on the market at the time. We have seen traders who would show up with shockingly low-quality products, generally imported illegally through the port of Dakar or the north through Mauritania, that would fail weeks or months after purchase. Solar had a bad reputation, and it would take a new type of model based on community engagement and trust to improve it.

We began to install solar home systems, financed with our own savings and contributions from friends and family. With the initial customers, we designed a model offering free in-home repairs included in the monthly fee. The combination of these high-quality products and high level of service and community engagement translated into a demand for solar home systems from 30 village chiefs in the region.

And so Oolu was born. Oolu means trust in Wolof, the local language most commonly spoken in Senegal. Our goal with Oolu was to provide quality products and after sales service that communities and customers could trust. We aimed to build a company that would scale to meet the energy access needs of not only Wack N’Gouna, but of the broader region.

Given the growing availability of quality off-the-shelf options that could be customized cost effectively by the time we started Oolu, we knew that the most scalable and sustainable business model for reaching our customers would be a pure distribution business that focused on sourcing and distributing high quality and affordable solar lighting and charging products. Given that we were operating in some of the most challenging economic environments in sub-Saharan Africa, Lendahand Ethex Ltd, trading as Energise Africa, (FRN: 776908) is an appointed representative of ShareIn Limited (FRN:603332), which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Lendahand Ethex Ltd’s registered address is 106-108 Cowley Road, Oxford, United Kingdom, OX4 1JE.

we offered pay-as-you-go financing options that made our solar lighting and charging products affordable for our customer base of rural farmers with variable income streams.

Six years later, we have successfully expanded the business, are now present in several West African countries (Senegal, Mali, Burkina Faso, Niger, Nigeria) with over 60,000 customers. We participated in Y Combinator, one of the world's top start-up accelerators, in 2015, and raised funding from well-regarded impact investment funds in France, Switzerland, and the US. We established our headquarters in Dakar with a team of 374 full-time staff, 98% of whom are from communities we currently serve or aim to serve. Experienced multi-country managers oversee a young and passionate workforce with our social mission and objectives-based culture at the forefront. We are present in more than 5,400 villages in Senegal and Mali, where we are the market leader.

In terms of our plans for the future, we plan to expand throughout West and Central Africa which will allow micro-entrepreneurs to develop rural businesses and gain new sources of revenue. The response from our most recent pilot of larger systems has been overwhelming, so we are confident that there is both demand and ability to pay from both our current and future customers who wish to climb the energy ladder. We have demonstrated success in opening and scaling new markets in West Africa and look forward to bringing high quality products and service to rural communities throughout the region.

Funds secured through your contribution will be used directly for the acquisition of solar home system inventory that improve quality of life for households and micro-businesses across West and Francophone Africa.

We are targeting to repay this working capital debt over a 30 month period with interest to investors. Apart from the obvious benefits of bringing energy and light, the social impact of our solar products goes much deeper. With the systems already installed to date, we have positively impacted approx. 300,000 lives and created 350+ full time jobs. We have helped to promote an environment that is healthier and safer and provided more opportunities for household income to grow.

Dan Rosa, CEO

3b. Impact

Social impact

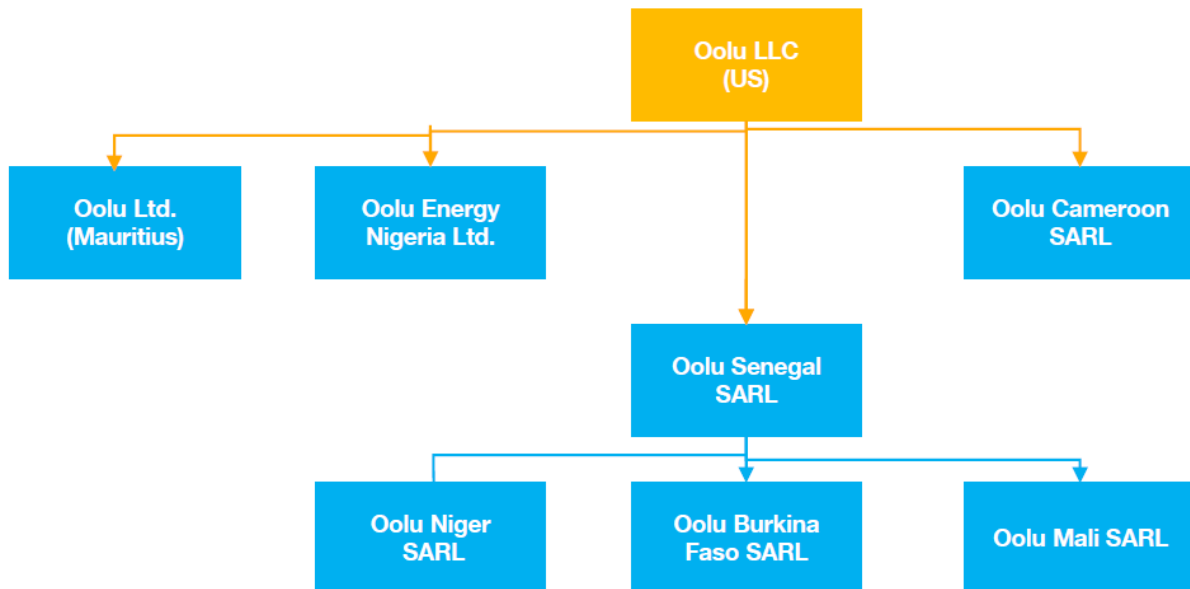

Oolu is achieving long lasting and measurable impact thanks to its last mile distribution network that brings high quality Lighting Global certified solar lighting and charging products to off-grid rural communities. Oolu’s customers not only have access to clean and affordable energy, but also have more time to focus on productive activities. Prior to Oolu, many customers report that they used to have to walk for hours to charge phones and their children were often unable to study at night due to the lack of affordable lighting options.

4. Financial analysis

In this section, a more in-depth analysis is presented, entailing a financial analysis including description of the liquidity and a brief cash flow analysis.

Liquidity

The PAYGO payment model stretches the cash cycle of the company. The accounts receivable is commonly a large part of the (liquid) assets of leasing and PAYGO companies. The accounts receivables consist of the amount of money owed to the company by its customers. Receivables entail a risk of non-payment by the customers. Oolu has chosen not to incorporate the receivables on the balance sheet at contract value. Oolu instead records the cost price of all the systems installed minus depreciation. This is a conservative accounting method since it only records the book value of the assets. The contract value of the sold systems is higher but does not include the non-payment risk. If the company would include the accounts receivables at contract value, the current assets on the balance sheet would be larger influencing the current ratio. Despite this, the current ratio remains strong, expected to be about 4x in 2020. Oolu can cover its short-term liabilities from their current assets.

Lendahand Ethex Ltd, trading as Energise Africa, (FRN: 776908) is an appointed representative of ShareIn Limited (FRN:603332), which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Lendahand Ethex Ltd's registered address is 106-108 Cowley Road, Oxford, United Kingdom, OX4 1JE.

Cash flow analysis

There are both positive and negative cash flow implications for the PAYGO model. PAYGO leases put pressure on the lessor's cash flow as it stretches the incoming cash flow; the long cash cycle is a financial risk inherent to the business model. It is a financial risk because the company has counterparty risk on their customers for the duration of the lease contract. The long cash cycle of the company causes a negative cash flow from operations in the coming few years until 2023; this is due to the working capital investments. Working capital is needed to buy new assets when new lease contracts are signed with consumers. As the Company expects to grow substantially in the coming years, growing revenues at about 82% per year between 2020 and 2023, there are large needs of working capital. The positive feature of the PAYGO model is that it binds clients, which will provide cash flows in the long run.

Collateral analysis

The notes are uncollateralized. Oolu is dependent on the payment behaviour of their customers. The legal risks deriving from these lengthier relationships, which also involve a higher diversity of obligations (e.g. monitoring, maintenance, payments services) than a regular sale, increase the overall operational risk of the lessor. The company provides SHS on a rent-to-own contract. The company decreases the risk of non-payment by the customers by being able to remotely lock the installation if a client fails to pay. If necessary, the company can go one step further and repossess the installation. At the moment, Oolu is able to sell most of the repossessed systems for the original price. As the market matures it is likely that a second-hand market will establish itself giving a price indication on the collateral value the systems represent.

5. Risk analysis overview

This section of the offer document provides an overview of some of the associated risks with this investment opportunity.

The investment team of Lendahand, comprising of 4 investment managers with a combined experience of 30+ years in investment management and investment banking, performs a light due diligence. This process comprises of many hours of desk research, calls/meetings with the investee, gathering market intelligence and competitor data as well as talking to experts. After data is gathered, a more in-depth analysis takes place. Not only with regards to financial aspects such as audited statements, balance sheet and cashflow projections, but also with respect to operational activities, quality of the management team, clients and market fit, ownership and governance. In general, the investment team will also perform an on-site visit, possibly after a pilot phase.

Before an investment decision is made, the investment team of Lendahand gathers all documents/information and writes an investment memo that is presented to a Credit Committee. This committee consists of 3 experienced individuals with relevant backgrounds:

- Michael Looft – former Kiva Regional Director Asia and Europe
- Daphne Pit – former Manager of the Green and Inclusive Economy team at Doen Foundation
- Hatem Mahbouli – Former investment officer at FMO, presently senior investment officer at ELECTRIFI

5a. Risk factors to take into consideration

Outlined below are some of the more general risks associated with investing in unlisted and unsecured bonds such as the one presented in this offer document. Further, some of the risks that apply to this investment are provided which may cause late repayments or loss of invested capital. Please be aware that there might be other, not so obvious, risks that apply as well. This therefore is in no way a full and complete overview of all the associated risks.

Risks of investing in unlisted, unsecured bonds

By investing in an unsecured bond, you are lending your money to a business (Oolu), with all the risks that this involves. It is also difficult to get out of the investment early. Unsecured bonds are 'fixed interest' investments. This means that the interest rate on the money you lend is set in advance. However, interest payments on your money and the return of your capital are not guaranteed and depend on the performance of Oolu.

Your capital is at risk and you may lose some, or all, of your initial investment. You should only invest if you can afford to lose all of your investment.

Company-specific risks

- The solar assets may not perform as well as forecasted due to manufacturing errors even though the Company prides itself on their high-quality systems.
- Competitors may enter the market with superior product/service and suppliers may default.

Lendahand Ethex Ltd, trading as Energise Africa, (FRN: 776908) is an appointed representative of ShareIn Limited (FRN:603332), which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Lendahand Ethex Ltd's registered address is 106-108 Cowley Road, Oxford, United Kingdom, OX4 1JE.

- Oolu may be unable to raise sufficient future capital to sustain its operations and expansion plans; however, the Company has shown strong track record of attracting debt and equity in the past.
- Operational costs may rise faster than anticipated.
- Management and key staff turnover could affect the performance of the Company.
- High defaults among clients might occur, which might result in the subsidiaries going bankrupt and high reclaiming costs of systems. This could result in financial loss for Oolu in terms of their equity stake, cause reputational damage, cause investor losses and result in the need to set up new subsidiaries/SPVs etc.
- In most emerging markets, different currencies are used that are more volatile than their counterparties used in developed countries. Even though Oolu borrows in GBP and repays in GBP, it has revenue streams in multiple local currencies in the markets of operations ("FX"). If the FX were to depreciate, the company's day to day operations could be affected which in turn could influence the ability to repay its hard currency loans. This is a common obstacle that solar companies must be able to cope with. It would be great for the industry if international investors were able to provide local currency funding, limiting foreign exchange risks for the companies. Lendahand Ethex Ltd recognizes this risk and has therefore set up a small foreign exchange (FX) fund to cover potential losses to a certain extent.

Risks for Lendahand Ethex Ltd

- The platform may go bankrupt. In order to prevent investors from losing their money, the notes/bonds are held in a 'collective depot' that is administered by Hands-on B.V. (parent company of Dutch based Lendahand) as allowed by the Dutch Financial Authority (AFM) under its licence. The note/bondholders are the owners of this depot. This is a clear segregation from the assets of the Hands-on B.V. The flow of money is also segregated, namely via ShareIn in the client money account for the Energise Africa platform.
- Since the bonds will not be tradeable on a recognised exchange, they are non-readily realisable. Bondholders may be able to buy and sell bonds via www.energiseafrica.com (although applicants should be aware that there is no guarantee that a willing buyer will be found).

Risks when investing in emerging markets

A brief overview of political, social and macroeconomic risks that could influence this investment:

- The company's main operations are in Sub-Saharan Africa; therefore investors should consider the potential for changes in the political climate.

Lendahand Ethex Ltd, trading as Energise Africa, (FRN: 776908) is an appointed representative of ShareIn Limited (FRN:603332), which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Lendahand Ethex Ltd's registered address is 106-108 Cowley Road, Oxford, United Kingdom, OX4 1JE.

Elections often have a strong impact on the economic stability of a country and significant changes can create obstacles for foreign investors especially as new regimes might make repatriation of funds difficult/impossible.

- Political instability could have a very strong impact on economic stability, the judicial system, stability of the financial markets and institutions and other similar factors. Such risks are difficult to assess but can have a strong effect on investment returns in general. Emerging markets in essence have growing economies, more or less per definition. Nonetheless, the threats of economic downturn due to other factors as described in this section lurk beneath the surface.
- In some cases, corruption is rooted in cultural differences and thus strongly influential in people's way of life. This could also affect businesses. For example, corruption could affect a business' ability to present fair financial statements. It may add costs that are hard to predict or manage. It could make doing business difficult and make contracts void in court, which refers to the (in)stability or (in)effectiveness of the judicial system.
- Natural disasters tend to occur more regularly in emerging markets and/or the effects have a more profound impact due to lacking emergency (government) responsiveness or general infrastructure, than is the case in developed nations, and can have a profound impact on local economies and communities.
- Emerging markets may also be more receptive to being the stage of (civil) war or other types of social instability. This is largely related to the economic and political situation of a country.

All the aforementioned factors can threaten the economic and political stability of a country. In turn, these can lead to local currency devaluations, high inflation levels and negatively influence other macro-economic metrics.

Changes in government legislation

- The risk of this affecting the profitability of the company in the future is minimal. Risk would only relate to future investments made under the new government legislation that are not part of this bond offer. Oolu will assess each future project on its own financial merits at the time.
- The impact of Brexit: Britain is in the process of leaving Europe. Aside currency fluctuations, we are confident that this will have little impact on Oolu's activity in Africa.

5b. Contractual measures to monitor the investment

The company will have to adhere to certain covenants as stated in the agreements with Lendahand Ethex Ltd. A covenant is a formal debt agreement which is put in place to protect the investor from borrowers defaulting on their obligations.

Most relevant covenants are typically represented in terms of financial ratios that must be maintained and are used often in the financial industry. A few that Lendahand Ethex Ltd could maintain with its investees are the following:

- Leverage ratio - Companies rely on a mixture of owners' equity and debt to finance their operations. A leverage ratio is any one of several financial measurements that look at how much capital comes in the form of debt (loans), or assesses the ability of a company to meet financial obligations. Too much debt can be dangerous for a company and its investors. Uncontrolled debt levels can lead to credit downgrades or worse. On the other hand, too few debts can also raise questions
- Cash coverage ratio - this ratio assesses whether the company has sufficient levels of cash to meet its financial obligations
- Unhedged currency position - relates to what extent a company's assets and liabilities are in a foreign currency and assesses the company's vulnerability to currency fluctuations. There is a limit of foreign currency assets that a company is allowed to maintain.

Lendahand Ethex Ltd will receive quarterly key performance indicators (KPI) updates in order to monitor the company. If certain metrics deteriorate, we will engage with the company. In certain cases, we may decide to cease the funding flow. If any of the covenants are breached, we may call an event of default¹ or start a workout procedure.

The mode of investment will be a promissory note/bond. A promissory note/bond is a financial instrument containing a written promise by the issuer (Oolu) to pay the investor a definite sum of money, either on demand or at a specific future date. In the case of this offer, it will be spread over specific future dates. The promissory note outlines all the terms pertaining to the investment, such as the principal amount, interest rate, maturity date, date and place of issuance and the issuer's (Oolu's) signature.

In the case the company desires to repay the loan early, there is a non-call period after which the company is allowed to repay the loan early at all times against a 1.5% prepayment fee on the amount prepaid. Such early repayment option is common in the industry and provides a company with flexibility that in the end could benefit the end clients, e.g. households in rural Africa. An investor is free to reinvest the repayment in other projects on the platform.

¹ An event of default is a circumstance that causes a lender to demand full repayment of an outstanding debt balance sooner than it was originally due.

Lendahand Ethex Ltd, trading as Energise Africa, (FRN: 776908) is an appointed representative of ShareIn Limited (FRN:603332), which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Lendahand Ethex Ltd's registered address is 106-108 Cowley Road, Oxford, United Kingdom, OX4 1JE.

5c. Conflicts of Interest

The Energise Africa Conflicts of Interest Policy can be found on the following link: <https://www.energiseafrica.com/conflicts-policy>

Energise Africa would like to draw attention to the following points, which may give rise to a conflict of interest:
